Religion

Why is an average person not "religious"? Because he is afraid of religion. Religion for him means a strict code of behaviour and conduct, failure in which means "sin", for which God will punish him severely, either in this life or the next.